What is Hydrocodone

Hydrocodone is a semi-synthetic opioid analgesic primarily prescribed to manage moderate to severe pain that cannot be controlled by non-opioid alternatives. It is often combined with acetaminophen or ibuprofen to improve pain relief.

Hydrocodone acts on opioid receptors in the brain and spinal cord to alter the perception and response to pain. It also has antitussive properties, used in some formulations to relieve cough in adults.

Why Take Hydrocodone

Hydrocodone is taken for:

- Relief of acute or chronic severe pain such as post-surgical pain, injury-related pain, or cancer-related pain.
- Management of nonproductive cough in adults (in combination products).
It is intended for patients who need opioid analgesia and for whom other pain medications are inadequate. The medication helps improve daily function and quality of life by effectively reducing pain.

How Many Pills of Hydrocodone

Hydrocodone is available in combination tablets such as 10/325 mg (10 mg hydrocodone and 325 mg acetaminophen), among other strengths. The number of pills prescribed depends on the severity of pain, patient tolerance, and doctor's instructions. Typical dosing starts with 1 or 2 tablets every 4 to 6 hours as needed but should never exceed prescribed limits to avoid opioid overdose risk.
