How Adderall Works

Adderall (Amphetamine + Dextroamphetamine) works by stimulating certain chemicals in the brain—specifically dopamine and norepinephrine—which regulate focus and attention. This makes it one of the most effective treatments for ADHD when used under medical supervision. It may also help people with narcolepsy stay awake and alert during the day.

Regular use as prescribed can lead to better concentration, improved task completion, and enhanced overall cognitive performance.
